

The Friends of Kentucky Camp is a group of volunteers dedicated to the preservation and interpretation of Kentucky Camp, a historic gold mining settlement in the Santa Rita Mountains. Located about an hour's drive from Tucson within the Coronado National Forest, Kentucky Camp is one of the few well-preserved "ghost towns" in southeast Arizona open to the public.

The Friends of Kentucky Camp offer members hands-on experience in historic preservation and interpretation, in a beautiful setting and a congenial atmosphere:

- Organize public "volunteer days" on the second Saturday of each month
- Work with specialists in adobe architecture and conservation
- Repair/reconstruct woodwork, electrical and water systems
- Conduct archival and oral history research
- Provide on-site caretaking

Membership entitles you to receive the Friends of Kentucky Camp newsletter, vote in all general elections, and participate in volunteer days, scheduled for the second Saturday of each month.

Friends of Kentucky Camp is a 501 (c) (3) non-profit organization: your membership fee may qualify as a charitable deduction for federal income tax purposes.
